WORK

Software Engineer Intern： Shanghai, China Apr - Jun, 2015

I worked as an intern of Shanghai Hyron Software Company Limited. My work is to improve and commit project codes and translate the help documents. I also learned Android development guided by a current project manager.

CS Course Assistant： University of Illinois Jan - May, 2016

As a course assistant for CS 125, I help organize discussion sections for students, offer help in office hours and answer questions online.

PROJECTS

What2Wear: Fall 2015

What2Wear is a group project for Web & Android that helps decide what to wear. Using bootstrap as web frontend framework and MongoDB for backend.

Github: Since Summer 2015

I keep committing codes for miscellaneous projects in order to explore and practice more about programming. So far I have created: memo, mp4 player, SQLite practice and solutions for Project Euler (a collection of coding quizzes).
